

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 10. 1743.

AMERICA.

New-Port, August 19.

On the 10th Instant we had a very hard Gale of Wind, and a severe Clap of Thunder, which threw down a Still-House of 41 Feet in Length, and 31 in Breadth. It also killed two young Cattle, and set a Fire on Fire.

And on the 13th we had a very great Rain, which floated the Streets, so that a small Boat might have sailed in it; attended with Thunder and Lightning; Clap of which was so very severe, that it broke several Holes through the gable End of a House, from the top clear to the lower Floor. Several Persons were in the House, but by God's Providence none of them were hurt.

Last Monday arrived here Captain Hopkins's Spanish Sloop, laden with Rum, Indigo, &c. His other Sloop, being a Dutch Vessel, arrived here last night; her Cargo is dry Goods.

On August 23. Wednesday last came into this Port to refit, Capt. Darby, in a Ship bound from Montserrat to England, who informs, that on Friday July 29, being in Lat. 35: 36. Long. 50: 55. 164 Leagues off Montserrat, they met with Rain, Thunder and Lightning; and at Three o'Clock next Morning, they were struck by a severe Clap which broke over the Ship, and carried the Main-Mast away to only twelve Feet above the Deck. The Boatswain being at that Instant upon the Deck, was struck over and lost; another Man on Deck was struck blind, but has since recovered his Sight, and another disabled: It likewise did considerable Damage to the Vessel.

On August 26. Last Wednesday arrived here the Privateer Fame, belonging to this Port, and Capt. John Griffith Commander, from a Cruise, and brought in here a Spanish Transport Sloop that was carrying Men from St. Augustine to Havana; she had 40 on board when taken, which were all put on Shore at Georgia, except three Officers, which were brought here.

Last Tuesday Leonard Lockman, Esq; was sworn in of the Court of Vice-Admiralty, by Virtue of a Commission from Home. He likewise produced a Patent to be Naval Officer of this Port, but was not admitted.

On September 5. Last Tuesday a Fire broke out in this Town, by which two Barns were consumed; one of them, which was partly improved for a Store, was sundry Goods and Merchandise consumed, to the Value of 5 or 600 l. the Property of Mr. Foster, Sheriff of the County of Middlesex. Several Houses near by were threatened, but the Tide being up, and the People very cautious, a Stop was happily put to the Flames, when the Fire burst thro' the Roof of one of the Barns, 'tis supposed it was occasioned by some Hay laid up too moist in the Loft, which heated till it fired.

On Friday Night last the House of Capt. James Smith, at Hopkington, was burnt down, and all the Furniture consumed; likewise two Negro Children were burnt to Death.

SCOTLAND.

Edinburgh, November 1. Sunday last being his Majesty's day, the Observation of it was deferred till Yesterday. In the Morning the Flag was display'd from the Castle; at Twelve the great Guns were fired, and followed by three Discharges of Colonel Lee's Regiment, in the Cannongate. At Two in the Afternoon the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council, in their Robes, attended by several of the Nobility, Gentry, and Officers of Col. Lee's Regiment, preceded by the City Musick, march'd in Parade through a Line of about 500 of the Train'd Bands, under Arms, to the Council House to the Assembly Hall, where his Majesty's Health, and the rest of the Royal Family, was to his Majesty's Arms by Sea and Land, &c. drank. The Day concluded with Bonfires and Illuminations. The Lord Provost had in one of his Windows the Picture of Liberty; in another the City of Edinburgh and London's Arms, with Black Cattle and Packs, and this Motto, Concordia Fortes. Next to the British Arms were represented, and a fine Picture of Justice, with the Sword in one Hand, and her Scales in the other. The Sky Rockets thrown from the Castle made a fine Appearance, and gave great Satisfaction.

To the AUTHOR.

SIR,

LOTTERIES having (within this few Years) been more frequent than formerly, has led me, who have little else to do than amuse myself with being a Spectator of the Actions of the rest of Mankind, to make several Observations concerning them. But I have remark'd nothing with more Admiration, than the surprising Credulity which has appear'd in purchasing Shares of Tickets, almost of any Body, without Enquiry; which, as the Ticket is left in the Hands of the Seller, and the Buyer has only a Note of Hand from him for Security, is trusting, as a Banker, with perhaps 10 or 20,000 Pounds, those who are entirely unknown; or, being known, no Body would credit with Five Shillings. As those who have chiefly imposed on the Publick, are either Dead, or Abroad, this cannot be look'd upon as a Reflection on any One now in Being; but I should think common Sense (on mature Consideration) should dictate to every One, to enquire of what Character and Substance they are with whom they deal, in indulging the Humour of being in Fortune's Way, that they may not be disappointed. If I err in my Sentiments, I hope the good Intention will be excused in

PUBLICUS.
